By replacing a sleeping porch with a rear addition, Franck & Lohsen Architects Inc. gave the homeowners a place to cook, dine, and gather while viewing the adjoining garden through 10' tall French doors. Custom cabinetry, a stainless steel prep counter, and audio/video equipment integrated into the millwork are a few of the exceptional features.

Lancome limestone counters and radiant-heated heart pine floors give this new kitchen designed by Franck & Lohsen Architects Inc. an Old World look. In order to match the grand scale of the home, the kitchen includes vaulted ceilings, a breakfast room adjacent to the walled kitchen garden, and entry to the dining room through a china room. A large gas range with dual fuel ovens anchors one wall.
